

In earlier days, CW was used to cut through the clutter. New technology has largely eliminated that hurdle. It is my opinion that the requirement for any morse code requirement is outdated. Smoke signals worked well in the early west but they went away and so should morse code.