

Morse code proved invaluable during the hurricanes of 2005 and the typhoons of 2004. Basic Morse should be a radio amateur license requirement, at the General level and above, if we are to maintain "ham" as a base-level emergency communication service.