

C&W Enterprises is a provider of broadband services to rural areas in Western Texas. While we would like to comply with any law enforcement agency in pursuing its interests, it is difficult to assess what the costs would be for our company or what type of exemption we would advocate without knowing what we will be required to do under the CALEA rules. Therefore, we request that the Commission pursue this issue in a future rulemaking once such requirements have been proposed or determined.