

I think the "option" shall always be open. I understand the Bandwidth issue but I feel the analog tv is too worn in to be taken away from people who cannot afford something new. and the terrestrial networks (abc/nbc/cbs/fox/wb) have enough coverage that I feel we dont need "more bandwidth room" for television. direct tv and dish network have enough "digital tv" for us. what would we do with all the electronic items of yesteryear which wont be compatible with the new format?
