

I believe TV captioning is an important issue not only to the Deaf and Hard of Hearing, but to others that may appreciate and rely on the service. The status quo with current services I think is shoddy and not up to par with current technology and services relating to persons with disabilities. All should be able to be entertained and informed by television programming.