

Violence on TV is the problem of parents, not lawmakers or TV stations. If people don't want their children watching something, don't let them watch. The rest of us choose to see what we like and shouldn't be punished because others are too lazy to look after their kids.