

I am writing to ask you to please support captioned telephone services for deaf and hard-of-hearing individuals. Many people in this population are unable to use the telephone, leaving them isolated from colleagues, family members and business proceedings. Captioned telephone services are an effective and efficient solution to a problem that will only become more pronounced as we become a more technologically-oriented and international world.