

We live about 8 miles from the I-5 corridor, yet our ability to get reliable cell phone service is tenuous at best. Many calls are unintelligible, and others go directly to voice messaging without the phone every ringing. This improves little from one provider to the next. This is using digital service.