

Regulating the amateur bands by the emission bandwidth instead of mode is essential to fostering renewed development and interest in amateur radio.