

This proposal is ridiculous and not in the best interest of the hobby. It is sure to create chaos and unnecessary arguments among operators of different modes that just do not mix. This self appointed group called "Communications Think Tank" do not represent the majority of amateur radio operators and it's hard to understand their motive for making such a ridiculous proposal.