

On this WT Docket 05-235 code is sometimes the only way you can get through the trash on the air, and in a emergency such as weather or terrorist attack, this just might be the only way to get through the clutter that is sure to be on ate air. A3 is a fine mode but CW has always been there and has always been a requirement to be a HAM.

We have enough CB junk on the air now why put more of it out there on the ham bands. You do not have to deal with it but we sure do,and that my friend is enough for anyone. My call is W4BMS