

The coverage that really reflect the diversity of communities, especially here in New York City, are PEG TV channels that provide programming for youth, the disabled and seniors. Clearly more original local shows need to be protected in the media!