

I, Maris Kundzins, am a producer and collaborator with other producers of art related local programs on Public Access Channel 77 in Seattle. Public Access is the most critically important venue available to produce local information about the community and its various aspects without mediation of the larger corporations engaged in the media business. More support is essential for a democracy like ours to function well. Improve Public Access and you improve the reality of what America is; eliminated it and you do a great disservice to us all. Maris Kundzins