

I believe that public access television is an absolute necessity! It not only enhances our feeling of community by making cultural events accessible to all, but it allows the individual voice to be heard: politically, artistically, religiously. It provides a perfect small voice medium for personal views. It increases dialogue, it makes you think, respond, and act. Best of all, our local public access television station will teach us to use the equipment so we can produce, direct and make available the kinds of programming that simply are not available in the commercial media. I support public access television with my voice and my money!

Regards - Nancy Anne Rowe