Statement regarding CPNI procedures:

LTC does not presently, and has not provided end-user services. The wholesale and carrier customers whom we serve sign contracts that include standard mutual non-disclosure agreements (NDA's). As such, all employees are required to keep all customer information confidential as a standard operating procedure.

We are aware of the requirements of Section 64.2009, and will develop and implement additional procedures to continue compliance with these rule if, as, and when we plan the introduction of any retail, or similar services for which we wouldn't have a formal signed contract with each customer.
