

I would greatly support an option to opt out on fax numbers just like telephone numbers, mailing address, etc. I work at a state university and we are constantly getting bombarded with unwanted faxes. I do call the opt out number on the fax but that lasts only a few days and then they are back at it again.

The sender does not bear any responsibility or cost for what they are doing. The recipient bears the cost through paper, ink, etc. Many places with fax machines cannot afford to continue to support unsolicited faxes.
