

This would greatly empower me and there is no reason why hard of hearing people who contribute to society just as much as everyone else should be denied the basic human need of communication the easiest, best way they can-via the captioned telephone.