

My son put my name on the "Do Not Call List" today. I just moved in to my new house, my phone number is two days old, and wouldn't you know I get a call from some deep speaking man who says my name and says I've won some sweepstake! I am an 84 year old women and this mans voice frightened me but at the same time got me mad! I told him don't even think about calling this number again and hung up on him. These people are a nusiance and I have a right to my privacy and also restrict them from calling my private residence.
