

Allowing Amateur Operators to transmit at 100W without Automatic Power control is a mistake.

Legitimate WISP's operating in the 2.4GHz spectrum will be foreced to abandon that spectrum, and in many cases the cost to redeply will force them out of business.

It makes absolutely no sense to allow amateurs to force WISPs out of business.