

Why should I be charged for an incoming call made by a machine when I am debt free! I get enough of these annoying types of calls on my home phone. The collection company should be required to keep accurate records and should not be allowed to bother people while casting their "debt net" - fishing for the proper individual.