

Cell phone bills are high enough the way they are. I have two teenagers and cell phones are very important in keeping track of the kids. We are very careful about not incurring any extra charges which can be tricky as it is when we have incurred charges that we did not understand a charge would occur. To allow such nonsense as auto dialing from lists is horrible, my credit is perfect, and we do not need the extra expense of false calls or wrong numbers.