

RFD-TV is a very valuable resource for the rural community in the US. We watch this channel almost exclusively because of the information we receive about Natural Horsemanship and farm and ranch news. This is the only place on TV where Rural America can advertise, inform and educate the rural population and expect any kind of success.

Furthermore, it is the only decent channel on television where you don't have to worry about your kids and grandkids watching pornography type programs.

We watch the natural horsemanship and mule programs, Texas Country Reporter, and all of the farm and ranch programs. We also enjoy seeing other country's agriculture, like the program on Brazilian Agriculture.

Therefore when we heard that Farm Journal was challenging RFD-TV as not a public station we just had to write and object.

Thank you
