

RFD TV has been a great addition to our television viewing. It gives great information on crop input, and livestock programming that is essential for the cattleman. Pricing and feeding updates are a much needed resource. We also like the antique tractor shows and tractor pulls that we have seen. It is an educational tool for health and safety on the farm also. I am probably leaving something out but I know of no other place that a farm family can see other farm families at work. We glean so much inspiration and information that enables us all to grow and be better at what we do.