Mustang Police Department

Welcome to the web site for the Mustang Police Department. We are committed to providing the best police services to the citizens of our community, and hope the information on this site will be of interest.

Emergency
Mustang PD
(405) 376-2488

The mission of the Police Department is to ensure the preservation of peace and quality of life for persons and property against the effects of criminal activity through enforcing violations of municipal laws and ordinances. A partnership between community and police will be the key to solving local problems and finding innovative solutions.

Our goal is to make our web site a reflection of the issues that mutually concern the citizens of the Police Department, as well as a simple and convenient means of communication.

We invite you to sign up for the Vacation House Watch Program, check the Sex Offender Registration, or look through the frequently asked questions. Should you not find the information you need, or have any comments or suggestions, please contact the Message Board. If you would like to reserve our Community Room for your meeting or event, contact the Office at 7714.

The professional law enforcement team of the Mustang Police Department wishes to thank you for visiting our web site. We are proud of our department and welcome the chance to offer this service to the citizens of Mustang.

building and the May 3, 1999 tornado by creating a collage about "People Helping People." The collage was entered in the Oklahoma Centennial Collage Project, an eight-year event designed to create a collection of historic and unique art to celebrate the state's centennial. The theme for 2005 is Heroes and Heroines: Ordinary People Doing Extraordinary Things. The multi-layered collage includes a yellow and gold circle, outside of which are pictures of the Murrah building and the devastation from May 3, 1999. Between the yellow and gold circle and the pink inner circle, the students showed rebirth. "We wanted the very middle to represent how people could change destruction into something beautiful. We wanted to show how people helping people can change the world," the students' essay that accompanied the collage said. Working on the collage were Karley Tucker, Amber Burton, Sara Whitley and Jessica Ferguson.

Medford, the county seat of Grant County, is situated on the Chicago, Rock Island, and Pacific railroad just one quarter mile of the geographical center of the county, originally designated as "L" County during the Cherokee Strip territorial division. Situated along the Chisholm Trail it is only eighteen miles from the historic cowtown of Caldwell, Kansas where the legendary wild and ruthless cattle drivers let loose after the long cattle drives along the Trail.

In 1918, Medford's Apollo and Zues Soucek, ages 10 and 12, built a homemade glider and set it in flight by mule power. Apollo later set a U.S. record for altitude - 43,165 feet.

Medford is platted on the most beautiful piece of prairie in the Cherokee Strip that cannot be beaten anywhere. The prairie on which it is located and for many miles around it is level, having sufficient incline to only to give it as good drainage as any place can desire, and lying between Pole Cat Creek on the south and east and Pond Creek on the south and west.

Grant County is full of historic and interesting sites and friendly people. Just seven miles southeast of the farming community of Lamont, visit the Atmospheric Radiation Measurement Clouds and Radiation Testbed Site placed by the U.S. Department of Energy (one of only three sites in the world).

Medford, the county seat and boyhood home of Army Chief of Staff, Dennis J. Reimer, (Ret.), features a 9-hole golf course, an asphalt-runway airport and the Grant County Homesteaders Monument. Just south is the "Ghost Town" of Jefferson. Sewell's Stockade and the crossing of the Chisholm Trail are just a mile south of Medford with historic monuments 1 1/4 miles east of Highway 81.

Across the Salt Fork River lies the community of Pond Creek, which hosts the Grant County Fair every September. Further west is the community of Nash, known for its Homesteaders Brick Memorial Walk, located in the town park.

North is Wakita, the town made famous by the movie Twister. While there, visit the "Twister" Museum, take a walk through the Butterfly Garden and see the Grant County Veterans Memorial Brick Plaza Garden. Each September, the town and the Wakita Lions Club host the "Old Settlers" Cherokee Strip Celebration.
