

The proposed Comcast/Time Warner/Adelphia merger, MB Docket No. 05-192 will adversely affect competition, consumers and workers. If the FCC decides to allow the merger, it should impose conditions that create real choices for video programming by giving competitors access to regional sports programming and other competitive programming or services.

The FCC should consider the interests of millions of people like me who pay the bills and rely on cable television for programming and news. We need a world where cable companies air programming that serves local communities and where competition gives us lower prices and more choices. Many of us already have enough trouble trying to afford cable TV. Please don't make it easier for Comcast and Time Warner to block free speech, raise prices, and keep out competitors.
