

My wife and I would like to have the option to watch sporting events, history and biography channels, various news broadcasts, and classic movies without having to pay for the program channels which present vulgar and violent programs and movies.

To be truthful, we stopped watching cable television some months ago simply because the great majority of programming was immoral and there was too much gratuitous violence, but we'd like to have the option of choosing and paying for more wholesome programming.

Thank you.