

Substantial fines should be levied to companies that change the LNP of a customer without notice or approval. The customer spends 10's of hours trying to rectify these changes that were made without consent.