

We need to keep government regulation of the media to the bare minimum, such as allocation of Spectrum. The consumer has more choices then ever before, so heavy-handed "protection of the consumer" is not needed. As far as concentrated media ownership, as long as there if full disclosure, there should be no other government interference.