

I am strongly opposed to the addition of more government regulations and increased control over the TV broadcasting industry. A perfect example of thought police at work. What the FCC should be doing is increasing competition among the major networks.

State control equals tyranny. Russia, China and a host of lesser tyrannical societies are proof of what I am saying