

Less regulation, less government, more freedom. This applies to our airwaves as well. Once again a select few is trying to represent the majority. We have more media choices now than ever before. But a few just think it's not fair. They want to control what I watch and listen to. What we really need is less government control and the removal of outdated laws which will foster more competition. It's called capitalism folks!!!!