

There is plenty of diversity in the media and an increasing number of outlets. What I watch and when is my choice. There is already too much government intervention in my life and in the media. The government should not only NOT exercise any more control over the media, it should rescind a number of the archaic laws that already exist.