

The government should not take control of the airwaves but help parents with parental controls built into the televisions. However saying that we do need basic controls for the stations. We need to have free enterprise and be able to enjoy whatever stations we as Americans we want to watch. However at the sametime not being offended by what is on the television. So in the end have some basic guidelines for stations but not so much that we have state run television like in other countries. Thank you for your time.
