

I understand that special interest groups are putting pressure on the FCC to exercise increased control over the broadcast media. I do not believe that you should bow to such pressure. Instead, I believe that you should move to increase competition and choice by eliminating or revising archaic laws that constrict fundamental changes occurring in the marketplace.