

The government can take positive steps to help all viewers and listeners, but not by taking control of the airwaves. Instead, the government should move to increase competition and choice by removing archaic laws that are out of step with the fundamental changes occurring in the marketplace.

The world is moving at a faster pace and the government is not. More taxes and more regulations is not what is needed to keep up. The government should be involved in the things that can help those that cannot really help themselves and that is not in the media. Focus more on the elderly, taxes, insurance, the things we have to have to survive.