

The American people must have a free and unregulated press/media sources if we are to continue as a free society in which we, the taxpayer, can gather our information from many sources. More government control of broadcast media makes no sense. Information sources or regulation of information is counter to the freedom that we enjoy and deserve as Americans. The FCC should encourage competition not inhibit it.