

The public safety network should be held and controlled by the public safety entities that operate the network. The issue of making the technology available is more about open standards that drive costs down. I do not want to have my public safety depend on the profit margins of a large business with political ties