

On December 20, please vote NO on Chairman Martin's cable franchise reform proposal unless internet neutrality is explicitly mandated in it. (I understand it is not.) While competition is good for consumers, not including common carriage (aka internet neutrality) is a con job by the telecom companies to control the content of what reaches US citizens' computers, televisions, and whatever future devices they will rely on for the continued FREE choice of their information and services.

Thank you