

Captioning is inexpensive especially if one consider that helping hearing impaired people lead a normal and especially a productive life would certainly more than pay for itself.