

"HD Radio on the Offense"

"But after an investigation of HD Radio units, the stations playing HD, and the company that owns the technology; and some interviews with the wonks in DC, it looks like HD Radio is a high-level corporate scam, a huge carry shill."

<http://www.eastbayexpress.com/2007-03-07/music/hd-radio-on-the-offense>

"RW Opinion: Rethinking AM's future"

"Making AM-HD work well as a long-term investment is seen as an expensive and risky challenge for most stations and their owners. There is the significant downside of potential new interference to some of their own AM analog listeners as well as listeners of adjacent-channel stations."

<http://www.rwonline.com/pages/s.0044/t.557.html>

The broadcast bands are public property, not to be given sole-source control over by iBiquity Digital Corporation. The HD Radio Alliance's 50KW-owned clear channel stations cause so much adjacent-channel interference with AM-HD that smaller stations are blocked out. Nighttime AM-HD will cause massive interference - Docket #99-325 should be rejected.