

Dear Federal Communications Commission:

Please take whatever steps are necessary to lessen the toll of birds, many of which are migratory, that die from striking tall communication towers. Mandating the use of strobe lights is one promising possibility.

Birds suffer greatly from the impact of man's activities and ignorance. This instance can be remedied.

Sincerely,

Arthur C. Carey