

Keep the internet open—support free enterprise!

Net Neutrality is essential to free speech, equal opportunity and economic innovation in America. When the FCC removed this basic protection in 2005, the door was opened for more greed and limitation from the biggest, already most profitable companies in the telecommunications field. Allowing them to control access would end the open Internet as we know it and destroy a huge important part of America's 21st century economy. It would damage my company's ability to compete in the online marketplace, connect with my clients, share information with my peers and participate in our democracy. The FCC must ensure that broadband providers do not block, interfere with or discriminate against any lawful Internet traffic based on its ownership, source or destination.

Thank you.
