

keep public airwaves available to the public listen, the only way to insure the public interest and to foster healthy market competition is to keep the public airwaves public. please to not sell them to the megaliths who already control most of our phone/internet access.

with the airwaves public, more of us can connect to open and accessible internet. even the less economically well off. and that can only serve the needs of the country in the global marketplace.