

CRITICAL....to say the least.....

A CRITICAL ISSUE....at the very least!!!

The Internet has become the "lifeline" for those seeking honest news.For those seeking other opinions.

For those searching for other "human beings" with the same interests.The Internet is the last medium for hope in saving the planet.And I say that in the most serious way.

Once the compromised companies take control of our one last source of information....it won't take long before the super governments of this earth conspire to do what they wish.

If the people have any chance at all in confronting "power run amok" ...its right here.Please leave it as is.

Besides...It`s already being scrutinized by the NSA.....

isn't that enough?

For the sake of this planet.....leave the internet as it is.
