

Information divide increases under current FCC

Remember the great equalizer? By giving control of the Internet to big business, you'll be increasing the information divide, not crossing it.