

Communication`

Greetings, the internet signifies the last frontier. To give it over to business people would stangle it, & give, we the public, only one more excuse to loath politics. That may seem like a win-win to start, but believe me, it will translate into a huge revolution against government. It's too late to try a strangle the cat that got out of the bag. Too many people have savored the taste of a free net. Do the right thing. Sincerely, Neil Fahey