

We believe it is necessary for the freedom of citizen's communication to set aside a significant amount of spectrum, at least 30 MHz, for open internet access.

Remember that the electromagnetic spectrum belongs to the people of the world and not to just one country, one company or one individual.