

Net Neutrality is required for my small business

Without network neutrality, small business will be at the stranglehold of large corporations. Because our company provides online accounting and website services to small property management companies, we would never be able to afford to pay for "Fast lane" access such as the telecoms and cable companies plan to implement without greatly increasing our fees.

This would hurt not only our service to our clients, but would also allow larger property management companies to further dominate and freeze out the little guy. Our service allows those smaller companies access to the same tools that large management companies can afford to use.

Without network neutrality, small business will suffer in the one spot where it has been able to hold its own against large conglomerates: The internet. Please establish firm network neutrality rules and keep to the principles and faith of our modern capitalist society. Without an even playing field, the internet will suffer, the end users at home will suffer, and small business will suffer. Thank You.

Glen Colby

www.TenantWare.com