

Having grown up in an underserved rural area, I feel strongly that this fund should not only be protected, but expanded as well. Wireless telecommunications provide a vital necessity in our culture, and EVERYONE should be able to access this technology, regardless of where they live in the United States.