

Don't let the FCC turn us into China!

When China and other countries censor Internet access it is used as a tool for the media and the government to decry that form of government where the leaders have total control over what people can access. The FCC is in effect trying to do the same here. Our rights continue to erode on a massive scale and it is amazing when we all speak up. We stopped this once but now the FCC has it so our voices must again be heard.
