

Truth, Justice and The American Way

Net Neutrality is essential to free speech, equal opportunity and economic innovation in America. Since the FCC removed this basic protection in 2005, the top executives of phone and cable companies have stated their intention to become the Internet's gatekeepers and to discriminate against Web sites that don't pay their added tolls.

I once risked my life serving my country in Vietnam so that things like the Internet would be put to the service of All people, not just the rich or politically connected. Preserving Net Neutrality is helping to preserve Truth, Justice, Democracy and the American ideals of fairness and equality.